Your Sexual Personality

Attached vs. Independent

ME

This dimension describes how important intimacy is to you in your relationships. The typical person is balanced between desiring intimate connections and preferring their independence.

◀ Attached

You desire intimacy more than the typical person. You love confiding in your sexual partners and enjoy experimenting with them sexually, too. You tend to be very trusting with those you love.

Independent ►

You are more independent than the typical person. You tend to be very cautious and take your time before revealing your feelings to others. You prefer to engage in sex that has clear emotional boundaries.

Spiritual vs. Rational

ME

This dimension describes how you perceive the world around you. Typical people are balanced between being rational and spiritual.

◄ Spiritual

◄ You are more spiritual than the typical person. ► You spend your time contemplating the larger questions of the universe instead of wondering about other people's private lives. ►

Rational ►

You are more skeptical of spiritual claims than the typical person. You feel passionately about those close to you, but your decisions are guided by logic.

Physical vs. Mental

This dimension describes your preferred type of sexual stimulation. Typical people enjoy a balance of both mental and physical stimulation.

Physical ME Mental
 ATYPICAL TYPICAL ATYPICAL

You are more stimulated by physical interactions than the typical person. For you the most pleasurable aspect about sex is the physical act. Reaching climax is essential for you to feel sexually fulfilled. Pornography does not tend to satisfy you because you desire physical contact.

Mental

You are more stimulated by mental imagery than the typical person. Talking about sex arouses you and find reading erotica appealing. You appreciate foreplay and the anticipation of sex can be as much of a turn on as the act itself.

Analytical vs. Emotional

ME

This dimension describes your sexual disposition. Typical people are balanced between being analytical about sex and letting their sexual emotions run wild.

Analytical

You are more rational about sex and love than the typical person. You are a logical lover and make decisions with your head rather than your heart. This helps you stay calm when you encounter romantic complications.

Emotional

You are ruled by your emotional impulses and make decisions with your heart rather than your head. Romantic complications tend to fill you with a multitude of emotions and thinking before you respond can be difficult.

Independently Content vs. Devotedly Erotic

ME

This dimension describes how you prefer to connect with your sexual partners. Typical people are balanced between being sexually independent and satisfied and learning deeper bonds and sexual exploration.

◀ Independently Content

ATYPICAL

TYPICAL

ATYPICAL

You are self-confident and secure in how others perceive you. While many are attracted to you, you prefer your independence. You are generally satisfied with your sex life and rarely desire new forms of sexual adventure.

Devotedly Erotic ▶

You form stronger romantic bonds than the typical person. To you, sex is a way to explore more deeply with your partners. You like to experiment sexually and are open to new experiences, but typically with the one you love.

Disciplined vs. Impulsive

ME

This dimension describes how you focus your attention. Typical people are balanced between being spontaneous and disciplined.

◀ Disciplined

◀ You are more focused than the typical person. You easily plan ahead and reach your goals with relative ease. You don't let emotions cloud your judgment in your interactions with other people.

Impulsive ▶

You give yourself over to spontaneous urges. You like to live in the moment and let your emotions guide you through your interactions with others.

Social and Sexual Makeup

ME

This dimension describes your particular combination of social and sexual extroversion. Typical people are either socially and sexually extroverted or socially and sexually introverted.

◀ SISE

◀ You are socially introverted and sexually extroverted. In public, you prefer to be in small groups and to avoid attention, while at the same time you prefer sexual variety and multiple partners.

SESI ▶

You are socially extroverted, yet sexually introverted. In public, you are gregarious and enjoy being the center of attention, yet sexually you prefer having a committed partner. You tend to believe in love and are more spiritual than most.

Tactile vs. Cerebral

ME

This dimension describes whether you primarily encounter the world through your mind or body. Typical people enjoy a balance between being cerebral and physical.

◀ Tactile

◀ You are physically driven and enjoy sexual variety. Your desire for physical touch can outweigh your ability to think through your actions.

Cerebral ▶

You are intellectually curious and enjoy learning new things. When it comes to sex, you prefer your favorite positions and acts over new and different ones.

Explorer vs. Bonder

ME

This dimension describes your preferred type of romantic bond. Typical people have a mixed desire for both individual bonding and sexual variety.

Explorer

You prefer sexual variety more than the typical person. You are happiest searching out new partners and sexual practices.

Bonder

You prefer to form strong romantic bonds with one person. You have a strong desire for intimacy. You like sex to be private and believe traditions exist for a reason.
